

Michael is a safety consultant who is passionate about providing health and safety solutions to support his clients' needs. Michael graduated with a degree in Occupational Health and Safety from the University of Central Missouri in May of 2018. During his time in college, he was also a member and captain of the university's football team.

Prior to joining the Safex team, Michael worked for Anheuser-Busch for five years where he held several different leadership roles within the company including his most recent position as Safety Manager of the Columbus Brewery. During his time at the Columbus Brewery, Michael was responsible for the oversight and management of the brewery's safety programs which included lock out tag out, confined space entry, working from heights, contractor management, electrical safety management, and fire protection.

Michael currently holds the Safety Practitioner® (GSP) designation from the Board of Certified Safety Professionals and is interested in pursuing additional professional certifications which include the CSP.
